

2008: a busy year for data
protection issues in the EU

2009: no change foreseen?

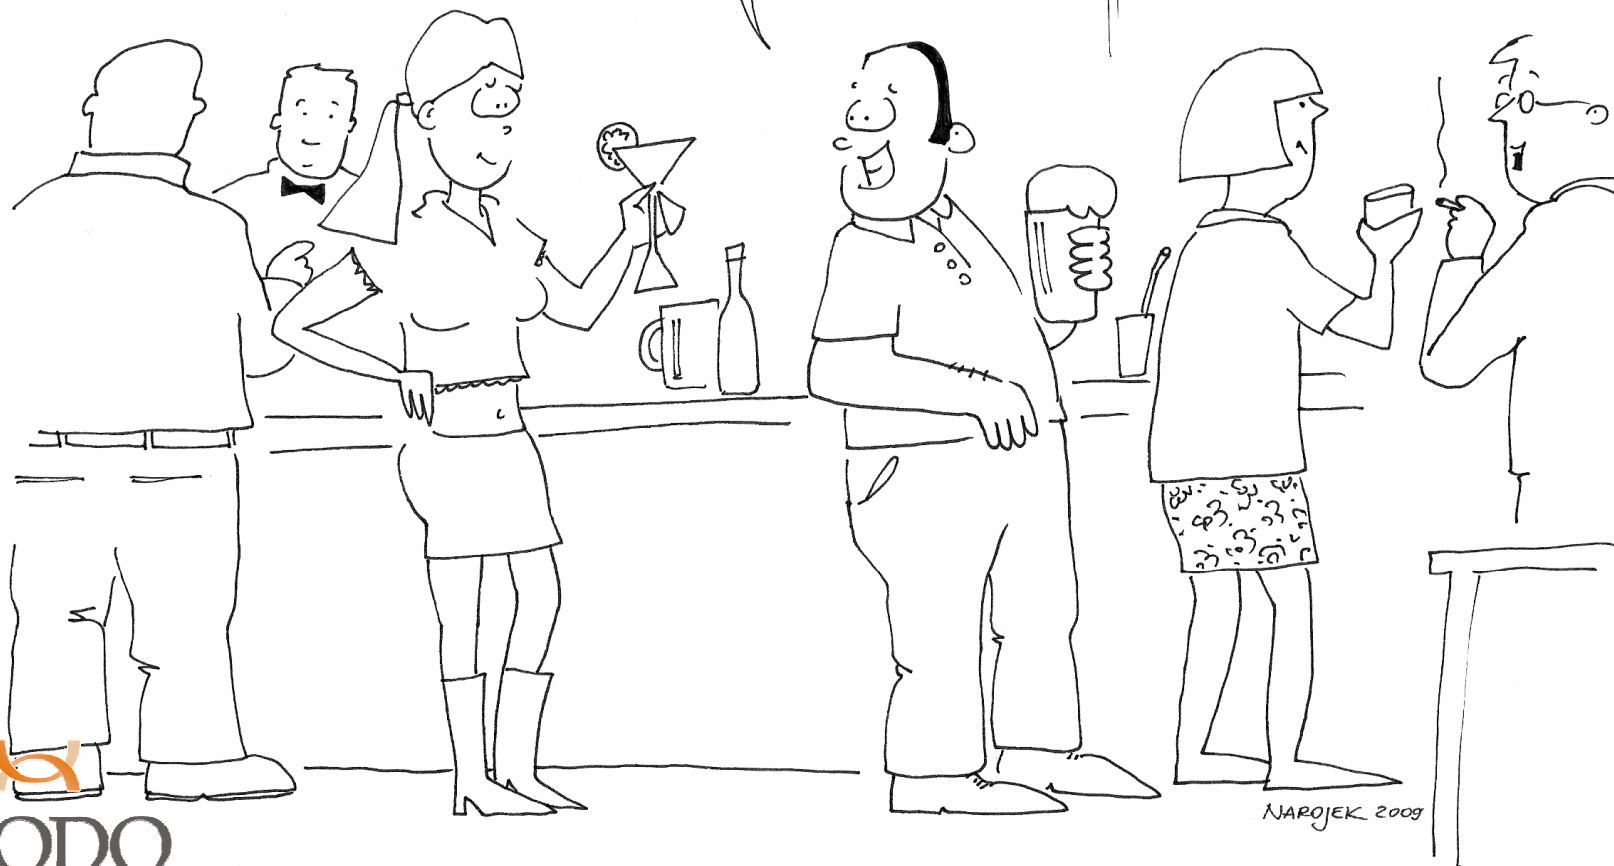

Data everywhere around

- ◎ The wide and pragmatic definition of the scope of personal data makes us realise that important information concerning us is actually everywhere.
- ◎ Sometimes we realise it in the most ordinary circumstances...

Protecting access to our data

- ⊙ There are different methods of protecting one's privacy. We can simply refrain from revealing certain data, but this is not always a feasible option.
- ⊙ The truth is that we may lose the data most often when using Internet. Therefore let's protect the access to the crucial information about us.

SO YOU SAY
IT IS NOT ENOUGH TO PROTECT MY PERSONAL DATA...?

PNR (I)

- ◎ A lot has been said about the PNR and its influence on daily functioning of law enforcement experts EU-wide.
- ◎ Herewith Michał links this topic to the issue of body-scanning in the way acceptable possibly even to the EP...

Biometrics again...

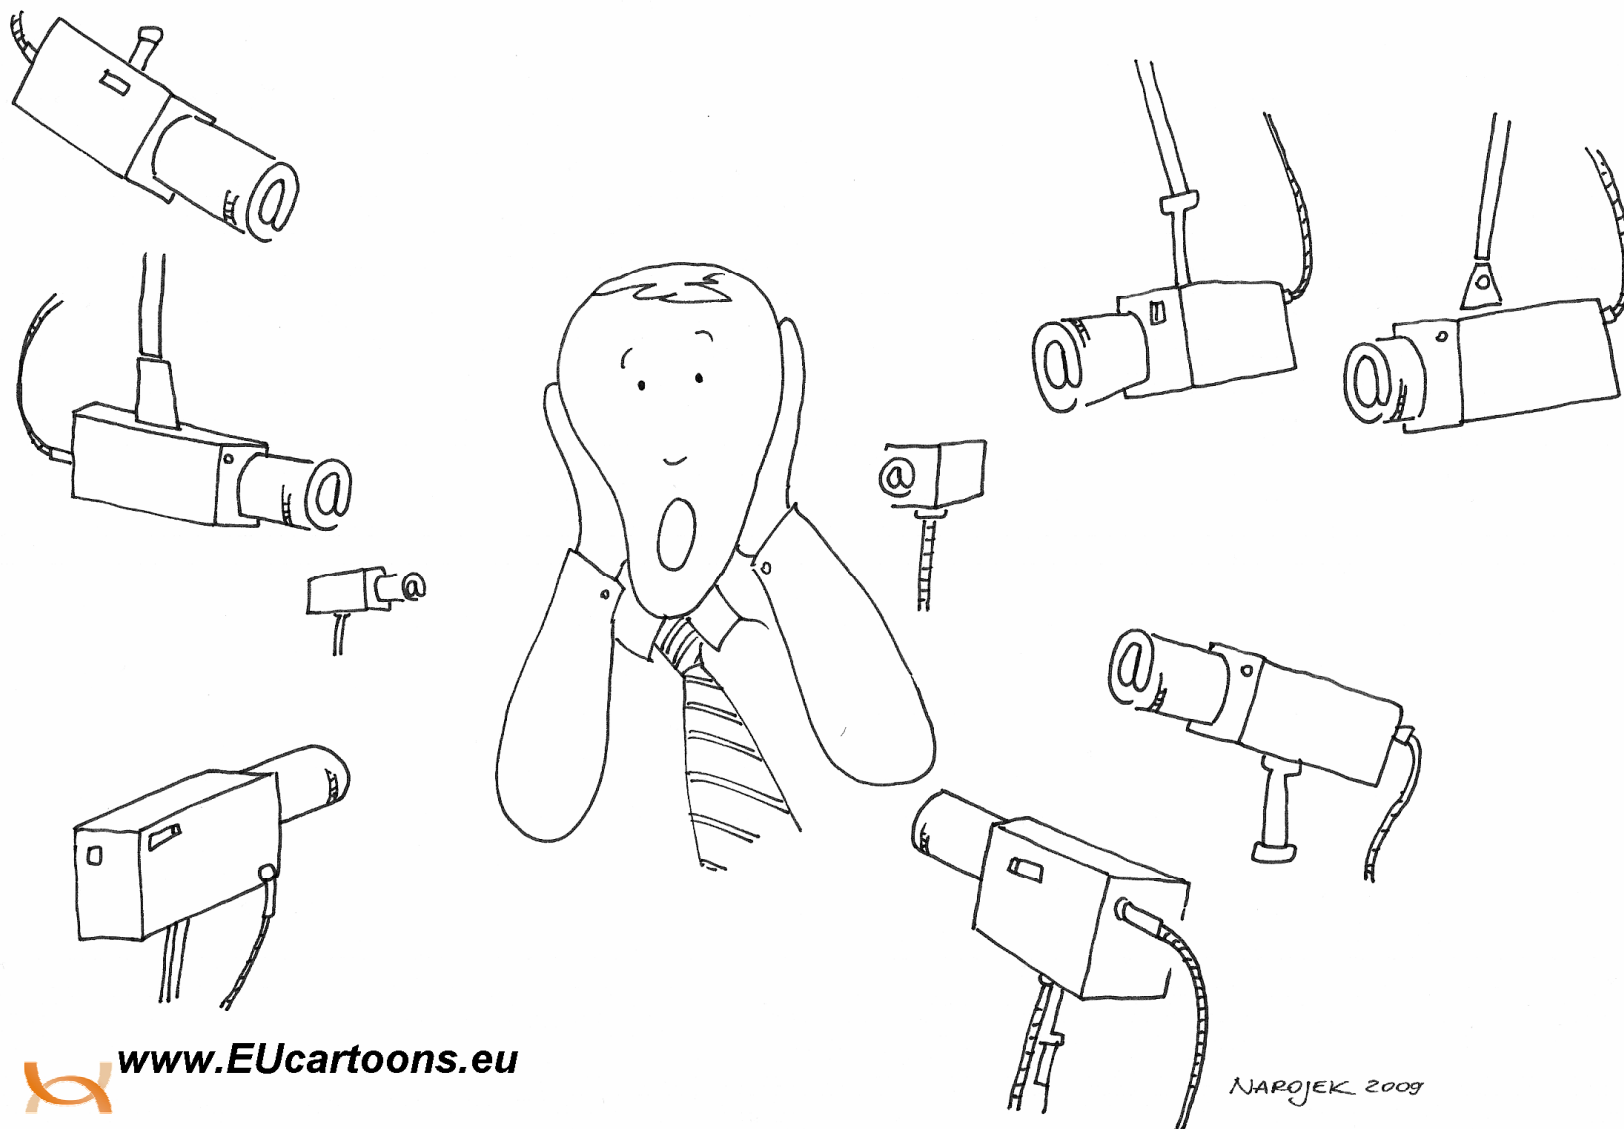

- ⦿ Nowadays it is rather difficult not to find an area related to data protection, where the issue of biometrics is not at stake.
- ⦿ This very picture – perhaps somewhat drastic, still, one of our favourites – shows how it could have been done some centuries ago...

BIOMETRICS IN MIDDLE AGES

ART perspective

- ◎ In 1893 Edvard Munch in his painting 'Scream' managed to get the very best of expressionism.
- ◎ More than a century later, Michał in his work tried to reflect on the meaning of data protection influenced by the Norwegian artist...

PNR (II)

- ⊙ Apart from an intra-EU discussion on this scheme we have not forgotten throughout AD 2008 about external dimension of PNR.
- ⊙ This is how Michał sees the PNR Agreement between EU and Australia – from down-under perspective indeed...

Framework Decision: finally !

- ⊙ After long long months of very difficult negotiations the Member States adopted the 3rd pillar's DP FD.
- ⊙ We believe that it's scope, even though it does not satisfy all of the stakeholders, will provide for a better level of data protection.

Please see to Michał's wit observation.

Internet privacy – awareness raising means a lot !

- ⊙ One cannot over-estimate the value of awareness raising on the threats we are facing when using our personal data on the Internet.
- ⊙ This is particularly crucial when we understand that there are many people interested in making use of our data illegally...
